MORE ENGLISH EVIDENCE.

West is not all alone in his English opinion of Cleveland and the administration, as is conclusively shown by a telegram which says much excitement was created in Iowa political circles when the Daily Republican made public the affidavit of a young British-American voter of Iowa City, named Benson, who swears he has a letter from his father at Grimsby, Lincolnshire, England, saying:

"In regard to what you said about Cleveland's election, I will say this: You have lived in England over twenty years and you know just as well as I do what is for the best interests of England. England is doing all she can toward the election of that noble statesman Grover Cleveland. Cleveland has a warm place in every English working-man's heart. In the Leeds and Manchester districts alone they have raised $50,000 toward carrying on the campaign. The amount raised has been by a tax of $1 cash on every factory hand."

I furthermore say that the above copy is true and correct in every respect. ROBERT BENSON.
Subscribed and sworn to by the said Robert Benson.

ANY qualified voter of the state of Oregon may vote at the election tomorrow in any precinct in the state. But no person not qualified by six months previous residence in the state, can vote. Some persons have a notion that a voter may vote in any state, but such is not the case.

THE opinion prevails throughout the East that the women of Oregon possess a peculiarly fair and beautiful complexion which is so pronounced that Oregon women can be picked out by that mark even beyond the seas.

ONLY a few hours more of suspense and then the formality of choosing Harrison and Morton to engineer the affairs of the nation will be gone through with.

"A PUBLIC office is a private snap." Tomorrow settles the question.

GIVE HIM ADVICE.

Advise your Democratic neighbor to study well the great question of the day before casting his vote tomorrow.

Advise him to consider how disastrous to Oregon free trade in its most important industries must be.

Advise him to consider whether those who are employed in the wool-growing and lumber industries will be benefited by free trade in those articles.

Advise him to consider whether the community at large can be benefited by a disaster to its workmen or to any portion of them.

Advise him to consider whether it is not his duty to vote according to his conviction of what is best for the community in which he lives rather than according to the dictation of the free trade bosses who have secured control of the Democratic organization.

Advise him to read his ticket carefully before going to the polls and to be sure that it contains the names of all of the republican candidates.

ELECTORAL VOTES.

Table with 2 columns: State and Votes. Includes Michigan (13), Kansas (9), New York (36), Oregon (3), Indiana (15), Massachusetts (14), Ohio (23), Nevada (3), Wisconsin (11), Iowa (13), California (8), Pennsylvania (30), Nebraska (5), Connecticut (6), Maine (6), Illinois (22), Minnesota (7), Colorado (3), Vermont (4), New Hampshire (4), Rhode Island (4), North Carolina (239), Alabama (11), New Jersey (10), West Virginia (6), Georgia (12), Florida (4), Louisiana (8), Tennessee (12), Delaware (3), Maryland (8), Kentucky (13), Arkansas (8), South Carolina (9), Mississippi (9), Missouri (16), Virginia (12), Texas (13), Total (162).

Deserted Homes.

In speaking of the recent death of millionaire Crocker, a San Francisco correspondent treats of the subject of poverty and wealth, and riches and affliction in a sadly poetic strain. "Brightly," he says, "gleam the stars to night on this peninsula of the sea; brighter still do they appear from the summits of its many hills. The air is soft and still. The winds are hushed and half of the city are on the streets, in the parks, or sailing the smooth waters of the bay. The gay world moves on, shutters rise, laughter rings, and music floats. The fact that the railroad magnate and millionaire of the city lies dead seems not to mar the joy of a great majority of the 300,000 souls who collectively form this commercial city. Better $1 in a cottage with life and health than $20,000,000 and in a coffin.

"A thousand people to-night are casting their eyes to the crest of Nob Hill and mentally saying, 'Strange are the ways of providence.' They are thinking of how gold has been poured on this hill like water from the skies. Palaces that rival those of the ancients have been erected on its summit, antiques and costly furniture has been gathered from every clime to furnish the interior to correspond with the exterior, rare paintings from the old masters have been hung upon their walls, and not an article that would add to the comfort or beauty, and which money could buy. But where are the happy hearts that ought to make the walls of these ornate dwellings ring with laughter? They are not there. Count the houses one by one. Not a single owner occupies his home. This fact is worth a thought."

Delicate Mechanism Disordered and Righted.

The most delicate and intricate piece of mechanism in the human structure is the nerves. As the telegraphic wires transmit the electric force, so do these sensation, the focal point being the brain, where sensation centres. Mental anxiety weakens this mechanism, sudden shocks paralyze it, but dyspepsia is its most obdurate foe. This foe is utterly defeated by the irremediable tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and the cessation of disorder in the stomach is reflected in brain and nerves by restored tranquility and tranquillity of the nerves implies, in this instance, renewed vigor. A distinguished medical authority says, "The victim of nervous disquietude who finds chronic at night and brooding by day necessities, should know that a cure must be sought among agencies which strengthen the nerves," and assuredly Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has proved to be the best of those. Malaria, complaints, constipation, biliousness, inactivity of the kidneys and rheumatism often involve nervous troubles by sympathy, and all are eradicated by the Bitters.

It prevents night sweats and tightness across the chest, cures coughs, croup, asthma, colds, bronchitis, pneumonia, whooping-cough and all other throat and lung troubles. The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidney or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at H. W. Cox's drug store.
